

Does a Natural Lice Remedy Really Work?

There are several benefits to using a natural lice remedy versus a typical over the counter lice product. The number one benefit is that there are no pesticides in a natural lice remedy. Research from the Israel Medical Association Journal published in October of 2002 states that, the success rate of the natural lice remedy was 92.3% successful while the chemical version was 92.2% successful at treating lice. The same study showed that the formulation is able to eradicate 100% of lice and 68.7% of the eggs after a single application of the product. The natural lice remedy repels lice and keeps their eggs from attaching to the hair by providing an oily environment on the hair shaft and scalp. The essential oils used are a bonus repellent for the lice as well!
