

How Med Sync Works:

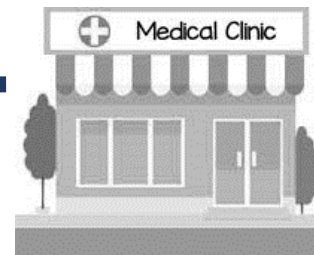

The pharmacy counts the patient's medications

The pharmacy performs a medication review with the patient

The pharmacy requests a medication review with the doctor's office and possible "short fills"

The doctor's office is informed that their patient is enrolled in Med Sync

Short fills are processed to ensure that the patient's medications can be filled either once monthly or every three months

The patient and pharmacy review the medications before each refill to confirm there were no changes
